George W. Laird Merit Fellowship 2025
UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE • COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

The George W. Laird Merit Fellowship is an annual award granted to a full-time engineering graduate student currently in their first year at the University of Delaware. The award is given in memory of George W. Laird, who earned a master's degree in mechanical and aerospace engineering in 1971. Mr. Laird had broad interests both inside and outside of engineering and he pursued these interests with considerable vigor and skill. The award is based on merit and may be used for any purpose, although recipients are encouraged to use the funds for enriching activities outside of engineering. The 2024 award was in the amount of $28,500. The award amount for 2025 has not yet been determined.

The initial step is to complete a dossier described below. Dossiers are due to department chairs by February 1, 2025. Department Chairs will submit dossiers to the Dean's Office. A subcommittee of former Laird Fellows will select a number of semi-finalists who will advance to the second phase of the review process. The second phase includes a reception on Sunday, April 13, 2025 and an in-person interview with the Selection Committee on Monday, April 14, 2025.

Dossier requirements are as follows:

- Cover letter to your department chair, announcing your interest in the competition. Please make sure to include your name, program of study, and start date in the degree program;
- Resume;
- Autobiographical sketch outlining interests, goals, academic and professional plans, avocations, etc. (maximum 1,000 words);
- Copies of college transcripts and other supporting documents that you deem important and pertinent. We ask for prudence in the amount of material included;
- A release form signed by you permitting the George W. Laird Merit Fellowship committees to review your dossier;
- Two or three letters of recommendation from UD Engineering faculty, previous employers, and others who could evaluate your character.
